Investment Manager Commentary

Throughout April Indonesia equity market fluctuated overshadowed by elections and the release of first quarter financial results, JCI in USD denomination strengthened by 0.23% while China's equity market denominated in USD strengthened by 1.83%. Strengthening on China's equity market driven by better than expected China data, whereas economic growth in first quarter grew by 6.4% YoY while March manufacturing and service sector also showed improvement. As expected Bank Indonesia maintain interest rate at 6.0%. Better than estimated March trade balance - surplus of USD540.20 million - together with continued increase in foreign reserves gives support for Rupiah's exchange rate. YTD Rupiah has strengthened 0.92% against US dollars. April inflation rose to 2.83% from 2.48% in the previous month. Higher portfolio performancecompared to benchmark driven by positive attribution from consumer staples, real estate & industrials.
