Investment Manager Commentary

Throughout April Indonesia equity market fluctuated overshadowed by elections and the release of first quarter financial results, Indonesia Sharia Index weakened by 0.91%. As expected Bank Indonesia maintain interest rate at 6.0%. Better than estimated March trade balance – surplus of USD540.20 million – together with continued increase in foreign reserves gives support for Rupiah's exchange rate. YTD Rupiah has strengthened 0.92% against US dollars. April inflation rose to 2.83% from 2.48% in the previous month. Higher portfolio performance compared to benchmark driven by positive attribution from consumer staples, real estate & telecommunication.
