Investment Manager Commentary

In the month of April Indonesia bond market overshadowed by elections, increase in world oil prices and surged in 10 year US Treasury yield which touched 2.60% driven by positive data from US labor force. Foreign investors booked monthly net foreign selling of IDR7.46 trillion. As expected Bank Indonesia maintain interest rate at 6.0%. Better than estimated March trade balance – surplus of USD540.20 million – together with continued increase in foreign reserves gives support for Rupiah's exchange rate. YTD Rupiah has strengthened 0.92% against US dollars. April inflation rose to 2.83% from 2.48% in the previous month. During the past month portfolio dominated with short tenor bonds booked positive performance.
