Investment Manager Commentary

In the month of April Indonesia bond market weakened overshadowed by elections, increase in world oil prices and surged in 10 year US Treasury yield which touched 2.60% driven by positive data from US labor force. BINDO weakened by 0.06%. Foreign investors booked monthly net foreign selling of IDR7.46 trillion. As expected Bank Indonesia maintain interest rate at 6.0%. Better than estimated March trade balance – surplus of USD540.20 million – together with continued increase in foreign reserves gives support for Rupiah's exchange rate. YTD Rupiah has strengthened 0.92% against US dollars. April inflation rose to 2.83% from 2.48% in the previous month. Lower portfolio performance compared to benchmark was due to longer portfolio duration amid the weakening of bond market.
