Investment Manager Commentary

Indonesia macro economy remained stable in December. There was a +0.34% MoM deflation, making annual inflation of +2.72% YoY, lower compared to +3.13% in the previous month. Core inflation was down to +3.02% from +3.08% in November. For 2020, inflation is expected to be higher due to adjustment of a number of administered prices (e.g., the premium for nationwide healthcare) and impact of higher cigarette excise. There is a high likelihood of electricity tariff increase as well (on the currently subsidized tariffs for 900VA household customers). Bank Indonesia's 7 Day Reverse Repo remains 5% in December. Impact of the central bank's policy rate cut to the economy growth that occurred in the last few months will be lagging approximately 6-12 months. Portfolio performance was higher than the benchmark due to still enjoying the return from money market placement that still quite high before interest rate cut.
