Investment Manager Commentary

Indonesia macro economy remained stable in December. There was a +0.34% MoM deflation, making annual inflation of +2.72% YoY, lower compared to +3.13% in the previous month. Core inflation was down to +3.02% from +3.08% in November. For 2020, inflation is expected to be higher due to adjustment of a number of administered prices (e.g., the premium for nationwide healthcare) and impact of higher cigarette excise. There is a high likelihood of electricity tariff increase as well (on the currently subsidized tariffs for 900VA household customers). Impact of the central bank's policy rate cut to the economy growth that occurred in the last few months will be lagging approximately 6-12 months. Portfolio performance was higher than the benchmark due to still enjoying the return from sharia money market placement that still quite high before interest rate cut.
