Investment Manager Commentary

Most of the global equity markets including Asia strengthened in November driven by optimism for vaccine development and positive responses on US election results, FTSE Sharia Asia Pacific in USD strengthened by 9.4%. In line with the improvement in global risk appetite and low foreign ownership, during the month of November foreign investor booked massive foreign inflow to EM Asia equity market. Monetary and fiscal policy are expected to remain accommodative; this will increase EM Asia investment attractiveness. Portfolio allocation in communication services and materials contributed positive attribution, meanwhile allocation in consumer discretionary and industrials contributed negative attribution to performance.
