Investment Manager Commentary

The stock market was volatile throughout the month of January – enforcement of large-scale social restrictions in Java and Bali, and profit taking by domestic investors suppress the performance of the Indonesia stock market, JCI in USD fell by 1.94%. The rotation of foreign investors' flow into Indonesian equity market began to appear in January where foreign investors posted monthly net purchase of IDR11 trillion. The latest economic data – the manufacturing sector, capital investment, consumer confidence index and auto sales – shows the economic recovery is continuing. Bank Indonesia maintain interest rate unchanged at 3.75% and project the optimism that economy will recover and inflation will remain under control. Portfolio allocation in materials and health care contributed positive attribution, meanwhile allocation in communication services and energy contributed negative attribution to performance.
