Investment Manager Commentary

Indonesian stock market was volatile throughout the month of January – enforcement of large-scale social restrictions in Java and Bali, and profit taking by domestic investors suppress the performance of the Indonesia stock market, JCI fell by 1.95%. The rotation of foreign investors' flow into Indonesian equity market began to appear in January where foreign investors posted monthly net purchase of IDR11 trillion. The latest economic data – the manufacturing sector, capital investment, consumer confidence index and auto sales – shows the economic recovery is continuing. Bank Indonesia maintain interest rate unchanged at 3.75% and project the optimism that economy will recover and inflation will remain under control. China stock market in IDR strengthened by 4.99%. Rupiah weakened 0.14% against USD. Portfolio allocation in materials and communication services contributed positive attribution, meanwhile allocation in financials and energy contributed negative attribution to performance.
