Investment Manager Commentary

US Treasury yield that continued to rise – driven by fear of higher inflation expectation resulted from huge stimulus and accelerated vaccination rollout – caused correction to equity and bond market, especially to emerging market countries that previously enjoyed foreign inflows. Despite negative sentiments from the global space, the market has been fully supported by positive domestic catalysts as Fitch Ratings maintained Indonesia's sovereign rating at BBB with stable outlook, amidst rating downgrades in several countries. US dollar appreciated against major currencies; rupiah corrected by -2.0%. The Fed continued to communicate that policies will remain accommodative; inflation is not a concern as high unemployment will limit inflation. Bank Indonesia keeps supporting the economy through macroprudential policies such as leniencies in down payment for property and cars. In the midst of a volatile market, investment allocation in equity and bond came under pressure.
