Investment Manager Commentary

Asia equity was volatile in March in anticipation of The Fed FOMC meeting and rising commodity prices due to Russia - Ukraine conflict. The Fed raised its benchmark rate by 25bps to 0.25% - 0.50% and signals aggressive rate hike path with benchmark rate expected to reach 2% to combat rising inflation. The Fed also signals that asset purchase tapering can commence soon. However the market has anticipated The Fed's policy and market performance rebounded following The Fed's statement. Meanwhile in China, the market was weaker due to domestic sentiment from rising COVID-19 case that threatens widespread lockdown. China government signals of further stimulus to support growth amid rising external and domestik risks. Portfolio allocation in healthcare and communication contributed positive attribution, meanwhile allocation in materials and consumer discretionary contributed negative attribution to performance.
