Investment Manager Commentary

The equity market posted positive performance in July supported by stronger expectation of Fed rate cut and Rupiah stabilization. A number of emerging data in the US softened further in July (i.e., lower ISM manufacturing and services, higher unemployment, lower non-farm payroll), that triggered a concern over potential US recession and raised expectation that The Fed will cut rate in September. On the domestic front, GDP growth came in at 5.05% YoY in 2Q-24, slightly ahead of consensus expectation (5.0%) supported by stable household consumption at 4.9% YoY and improvement in investment at 4.4% YoY. Domestic inflation continues to lower, with headline inflation came in lower for the fourth straight month to 2.1% YoY in July, that should provide monetary space for Bank Indonesia for rate cut. Rupiah stabilizes against USD in July, appreciated 0.7%, and foreign investors posted net buy of USD411 million in Indonesia equities after three months of consecutive outflows. Portfolio allocations in materials contributed positive attributions, meanwhile allocations in communication contributed negative attributions to performance.
