Investment Manager Commentary

Market sentiment was weaker in June due to geopolitical tension in the Middle East and disappointing domestic data. Israel - Iran conflict overshadowed the market, as oil prices spike and raises concern on inflation. Brent oil price rose 23% to USD78 per barrel amid the conflict, before subsiding to USD67 following ceasefire. The Fed maintained benchmark rate at 4.25%-4.50% inline with market expectation. Fed Chair Powell indicate The Fed is in no rush to cut rates, tentative on the impact of tariffs to the economy. Domestic economic data was disappointing in June, with trade deficit surplus narrowed to USD159 million from USD4.3 billion the previous month. Domestic consumption remained weak, with consumer confidence index dropped to 117.5 the lowest level since 2022, indicating weak consumption appetite. BI maintained BI Rate at 5.5% inline with expectation, but maintained dovish stance for further rate cut potential tentative on global dynamics. Meanwhile developed markets equities were positive amid signs of progress in US trade negotiation. Portfolio allocations in utilities contributed positive attributions, meanwhile allocations in financials contributed negative attributions to performance.
