Investment Manager Commentary

Market sentiment improved in May, supported by positive development of US tariff negotiations. President Trump announced trade deal between US - UK, as the first trade deal following reciprocal tariffs announcement in early April. Meanwhile US and China agree to commence negotiation and temporarily reduce tariffs for 90 days. On the domestic front, the government and Bank Indonesia showed urgency to boost domestic consumption. BI cut benchmark rate by 25bps to 5.50% and indicate room to cut interest rate further. The government announced new economic stimulus package that amount to IDR24.4 trillion, which include transportation discount, social and food assistance, and wages subsidy assistance. Going forward, the market will continue to monitor development on tariff negotiations, and acceleration in government spending to bolster domestic consumption. Short-tenor bonds outperformed in the month, with the yield on 2-year bonds -19bps, while the mid tenor bonds (10-year) yield -3bps.
