Investment Manager Commentary

Asia equities began the year with strong performance driven in part by weaker USD expectation and continued appetite for asset diversification. Korea and Taiwan outperformed as AI-related semiconductor demand continued to accelerate. China equities advanced despite mixed domestic data and uncertainty of further stimulus policy. Australia equities benefited from soaring metals prices that drove performance in the mining companies. Meanwhile India equities lagged due to weak earnings and uncertainty on tariff negotiation with the US. Indonesia equities also saw sharp declines after MSCI freezes index review, highlighting problem in share ownership transparency data. Portfolio allocations in IT contributed positive attributions, meanwhile allocations in Industrials was detractor to performance.
