Investment Manager Commentary

Indonesia's equity market advanced in July despite renewed geopolitical tensions stemming from the escalating US-Iran conflict and continued volatility across global equity markets. Brent crude oil prices moved higher as the conflict disrupted key shipping routes through the Strait of Hormuz and the Bab el-Mandeb Strait. Meanwhile, The Fed kept its policy rate unchanged at 3.50%-3.75%, in line with market expectations. However, the FOMC consensus turned more hawkish, with three policymakers voting in favor of a rate hike. On the domestic front, S&P Global Ratings reaffirmed Indonesia's sovereign credit rating at 'BBB' with a Stable Outlook, in contrast to Fitch and Moody's, which had previously revised Indonesia's outlook downward. Bank Indonesia maintained BI Rate at 5.75%, signaling a preference to preserve Rupiah stability around the 18,000 level for the time being. The government reported a fiscal deficit of 0.76% of GDP as of end-June and projected a 2026 fiscal deficit of IDR 734.3 trillion (2.85% of GDP), emphasizing its commitment to fiscal discipline. On the other hand, markets were surprised by the resignation of Perry Warjiyo as Governor of Bank Indonesia. Market reaction was relatively muted, as investors awaited clarity on the credibility and policy direction of the incoming central bank governor. Portfolio allocations in communication contributed positive attributions, meanwhile allocations in consumer staples contributed negative attributions to performance.
