Investment Manager Commentary

Indonesia and India equities posted negative performance in March due to Iran war that pushes energy prices higher significantly and raises concern on oil supply issue. The Strait of Hormuz is effectively closed following the outbreak of the war, while it is one of the most important passageway for oil supply from the Gulf of Persia that accounts for about 20% of the world's oil supply. Brent oil prices rose 63% in the month to USD118 per barrel that pose risks to countries that rely on oil imports. Outlook remains murky with duration of the war and oil price dynamics are the major factors impacting global inflation, economic growth and financial markets. At the end of March the government decided to maintain subsidized and non-subsidized oil prices, while also introduced austerity measures aimed to limit energy usage and budget reallocation. Fitch revised Indonesia's outlook to negative while affirming its BBB sovereign rating in March. The rating agency cited rising policy uncertainty and concerns over the consistency and credibility of Indonesia's policy framework. Bank Indonesia kept rates unchanged at 4.75%, with stability as key priority. Portfolio allocations in energy contributed positive attributions, meanwhile allocations in financials contributed negative attributions to performance.
