JANUARI 2024

ULASAN MAKROEKONOMI

Indikator makro Indonesia bulan Januari 2024 tetap stabil. Inflasi umum tercatat sebesar 2.6% YoY dari bulan Desember 2023 2.8% YoY (revisi naik dari data sebelumnya yang diumumkan sebesar 2.6%). Inflasi inti tercatat 1.7%, sedikit turun dari bulan Desember 1.8%. Penurunan inflasi umum di bulan Januari terjadi akibat inflasi pangan yang turun dari 6.2% YoY di Desember ke 5.8% YoY, terutama dipicu oleh penurunan harga cabai, telur, dan daging. Inflasi transportasi juga turun ke 1.1% di Januari dari 1.3% di Desember 2023, mencerminkan penurunan harga BBM dan tiket pesawat. Inflasi inti yang rendah menunjukkan pertumbuhan upah tetap lemah, konsisten dengan kenaikan UMR yang sangat minim.

Pertumbuhan PDB kuartal terakhir 2023 tercatat 5.04%, naik dari 4.94% di kuartal tiga, dan membuat pertumbuhan PDB 2023 keseluruhan tercatat sebesar 5.05%, turun dari 5.31% di tahun 2022. Konsumsi rumah tangga turun dari 5.1% ke 4.5%, dipicu penurunan segmen menengah atas, namun terbantu oleh kenaikan di segmen menengah-bawah, ditopang peningkatan belanja pemilu dan bantuan sosial. Sementara itu, belanja institusi non profit meningkat dari 6.2% di kuartal ketiga ke 18.3%, terkait pemilu. Industri manufaktur mencatat pertumbuhan 4.64% YoY, berkontribusi 0.95% pada PDB, terutama didorong oleh industri logam dasar dan peralatan kelistrikan yang tumbuh 14.2% dan 13.7% secara tahunan. Tiga provinsi yang tumbuh paling tinggi adalah Maluku Utara (20.5% YoY), Sulawesi Tengah (11.9%), dan Kalimantan Timur (6.2%), sejalan dengan

MACROECONOMY REVIEW

Indonesia macro indicators remain stable in January 2024. Headline inflation came in at 2.6% YoY in January from 2.8% in December, which was revised up from 2.6%. Core inflation was at 1.7%, a slight decline from December's 1.8%. The lower headline inflation in January was primarily resulted from food inflation, which fell to 5.8% YoY from 6.2% in December, led by red chili, chicken eggs, and beef. Transport inflation also came in lower at 1.1% in January from 1.3% in December, reflecting lower airfares and non-subsidized fuel prices. The subdued core inflation suggests wage growth remains weak, consistent with the lowest increase in the minimum wage.

GDP growth slightly improved to 5.04% YoY in 4Q23, up from 4.94% in 3Q23, making FY23 GDP growth of 5.05% YoY, lower from 5.31% YoY in FY22. Household consumption growth fell to 4.5% from 5.1%, led by a slowdown in the mid-to-high income segment, partially offset by higher spending in the low-income segment, fueled by higher social spending and the election spending. Meanwhile, spending by non-profit institutions soared to 18.3% YoY from 6.2% in 3Q, linked to the upcoming elections. The manufacturing industry, showing 4.64% YoY growth, contributed 0.95% to the GDP. It was primarily driven by base metal and electrical appliances that grew by 14.2% and 13.7% YoY, respectively. Three provinces show the strongest growth, namely North Maluku (20.5% YoY), Central Sulawesi (11.9%), and East Kalimantan (6.2%), on the expansion of the downstream industry and the new capital city, Nusantara.

SAHAM

Sejumlah data yang muncul memperkuat narasi bahwa The Fed belum akan segera menurunkan suku bunga. Di pasar saham Amerika Serikat, pertumbuhan laba perusahaan teknologi mendorong kinerja indeks S&P dan Nasdaq. MSCI World +1.14% di bulan Januari, sementara kekhawatiran mengenai ekonomi China menekan kinerja MSCI Asia ex. Jepang (-4.82%). MSCI Emerging Market turun -4.68%. IHSG terkoreksi -0.89%. Namun terjadi arus masuk dana asing sebesar USD534.2 Juta. Sektor konsumen siklikal menguat +4.37% dan finansial menguat +3.81%, menjadi yang terunggul. Sementara sektor teknologi (-6.93%) dan kesehatan (-4.33%) menjadi pemberat utama.

Fundamental Indonesia yang kuat (seperti posisi fiskal, nilai tukar dan inflasi yang terjaga, pertumbuhan PDB yang stabil, serta rasio utang yang sehat), dan suku bunga acuan The Fed yang sudah mendekati puncak, serta pemulihan China yang tidak sesuai harapan diperkirakan dapat menopang selera investor asing untuk memilih

EQUITY

A number of emerging data strengthen the narrative that The Feb will not rush to cut interest rates. Meanwhile, from the US stock market, good earnings from technology companies pushed the performance of the S&P 500 and Nasdaq index. MSCI World was up +1.14% in January while concerns on the Chinese economy continue to put pressure on MSCI APxJ (-4.82%). MSCI EM was down -4.68%. The JCI was corrected -0.89%. There was USD534.2 million net foreign inflow. Consumer cyclical sector (+4.37%) and Financials (+3.81%) are the top gainers while Technology (-6.93%) and Healthcare (-4.33%) became top losers.

Indonesia strong fundamentals (i.e., fiscal discipline, manageable inflation and well managed exchange rate, stable GDP growth and healthy debt ratios), peaking Fed Funds Rate and disappointing China recovery post economy reopening could support appetite of foreign investors to Indonesia. OBLIGASI

Pasar obligasi membuka tahun dengan positif, indeks BINDO mencatatkan kenaikan +0.52% di Januari, walaupun ada kenaikan imbal hasil obligasi pemerintah 10 tahun dari 6.45% ke 6.57%. Kenaikan imbal hasil ini sejalan dengan UST 10 tahun yang imbal hasilnya juga naik dari 3.88% ke 3.91%. Data-data makroekonomi yang lebih baik dair perkiraan seperti non farm payroll, ISM manufacturing PMI, dan juga Michigan Consumer Sentiment, berkontribusi pada volatilitas yang terjadi di bulan Januari dimana imbal hasil UST 10 tahun bahkan sempat melonjak sampai 4.18%. Namun pada akhirnya imbal hasil turun ke 3.91% setelah The Fed memberi sinyal bahwa kenaikan lebih lanjut Fed Funds Rate sepertinya tidak akan terjadi, di tengah tren inflasi yang menurun.

Sementara dari pasar domestik, BI mempertahankan suku bunga acuan di level trading at attractive valuation, much lower than its average in the past ten years. We continue to believe that exposure to Indonesia economies will likely remain positive and we stay optimistic on the enduring appeal of long-term investment in Indonesia.

FIXED INCOME

The Indonesian bond market opened the year in positive territory by recording +0.52% gain in January as indicated by BINDO Index. The index still recorded a positive monthly performance despite the rise in the 10Y INDOGB yields from 6.45% to 6.57%. The movement was in line with the 10Y UST yield movement which increased from 3.88% to 3.91%. Better-than-expected US macroeconomic data such as Non-farm Payroll, ISM Manufacturing PMI, as well as Michigan Consumer Sentiment, contributed to January's volatility with the 10Y UST yields creeping up to 4.18% during the period. However, the yields ultimately went down to 3.91% as The Fed signaled that they were unlikely hiking FFR further as inflation trending down.

Meanwhile from the local space, Bank Indonesia kept its rates steady at 6.00%. The rate policy

6.00%. Keputusan ini ditopang oleh inflasi Januari yang jinak. Sepanjang bulan, permintaan pada lelang obligasi pemerintah tercatat marak dan konsisten, dengan kenaikan permintaan di lelang terakhir Januari sebesar IDR73.24 Triliun (naik 84% dibandingkan lelang pertama di awal bulan Januari sebesar IDR39.8 Triliun). Perbaikan permintaan ini menopang kebangkitan pasar obligasi setelah terjadinya koreksi di awal bulan.

decision was supported by benign January inflation figure. During the month, the government bond auction incoming bids were significantly robust and consistent, the demand in the last auction in January were higher by 84% at IDR 73.24Tn, compared to the first government bond auction demand of IDR 39.80Tn in the beginning of January. The improvement in the incoming bids were also contributing to the market rebound, after a market correction in the beginning of the month.
